

CROWS NEST

A taste of Bollywood

Andrea McCullagh

THE streets of Crows Nest will be an explosion of colour this weekend for the annual community festival.

Thousands of people are expected to flock to the suburb to celebrate the 25th anniversary of the popular family-friendly event.

The bumper festival promises plenty to keep the children happy with pony rides, petting zoos, balloonists, a jumping castle and face painting.

And families can enjoy food, fashion and crafts.

This young Bollywood troupe will entertain the crowd, joining a host of talented musicians across three stages.

The festivities kick off at 10am on Sunday.

Bollywood dancers Manya Barot, Ashani Gupta, Anjali D'Cunha, and Yasmin Gupta dancing with the Crows Nest Festival crow mascot.
